

ABSTRACT

The present invention includes ball having integrated timers for measuring or counting at least one time period.